Formed in 1868, the Notre Dame Alumni Association (NDAA) furthers the University’s mission of faith, learning, and service by facilitating more meaningful lifelong relationships within the global Notre Dame family. Membership in the Alumni Association is automatic and free for all graduates of Notre Dame, and currently totals more than 130,000.

The Alumni Association has a three-prong structure — consisting of the Alumni Association staff, the Alumni Board of Directors, and various alumni association communities. The NDAA staff handles the day-to-day operations of the Alumni Association and provides support to the Board and the communities.

The Board of Directors sets priorities for the Alumni Association and represents Notre Dame alumni in communicating with the University administration. The board is composed of 29 directors and a president. Board members are elected by Notre Dame alumni for three-year terms, and meet on campus three times a year. The president and president-elect also serve on the University’s Board of Trustees.

Notre Dame’s thriving communities of alumni and friends provide a wide range of opportunities for socializing, networking, community service, spirituality, and personal development, and contribute to the rich experience that is unique to Notre Dame. These communities include 225 local Notre Dame clubs in the U.S.; 52 international clubs; undergraduate, law, M.B.A., and graduate school classes from 1930 to 2014; a Diversity Council; Notre Dame Women Connect; Young Alumni (graduated within the last 10 years); Senior Alumni (over age 55); and a host of other groups bound by a common interest.

Notre Dame Impact: One Story at a Time
Friday, May 30, 10:00 am
DeBartolo Performing Arts Center, Leighton Concert Hall

“Are the things you’re doing making a difference in anyone’s lives?” This question is at the center of If You Build It, a new award-winning documentary directed by Patrick Creadon ’89 (Wordplay, I.O.U.S.A.) that illustrates the positive power of education and service to uplift a dying community. Join storyteller Creadon, faculty, and other alumni to hear their perspectives on the impact of service and how the University cultivates the call to serve as a lifelong mission for the Notre Dame family. Selected scenes from the film, combined with insights from the director, will frame our discussion. The panel will also field questions from the audience for what’s sure to be an enriching conversation. Answer for yourself, “How can I use my gifts and talents to serve those in need?” Come, renew your call as a catalyst for change. The film If You Build It will be screened on Friday, May 30 at 3:00 pm at the DeBartolo Performing Arts Center, Browning Cinema.

Showing of film and discussion with Coach Digger Phelps moderated by Ted Mandell, Department of Film, Television, and Theatre- Film Production Faculty Producer/Student Development- Fighting Irish Digital Media

Where were you 40 years ago? 88 AND 1, tells the story of that fateful day, January 19, 1974, when UCLA’s unfathomable three-year winning streak came to a shocking end at the hands of the Notre Dame basketball squad. It was the greatest dynasty the college basketball world has ever known, but in three minutes and 22 seconds, it all came crumbling down. In the film, Dick Enberg, Bill Walton, John Shumate, and others re-live that pre-ESPN era when TVS owned the airwaves, John Wooden owned the hardwood, and Irish coach Digger Phelps engineered the greatest upset in college basketball history.

Being Atticus Finch
Saturday, May 31, 1:30 – 2:30 pm, Eck Hall of Law, Patrick F. McCartan Courtroom (1215 on map)

Atticus Finch, one of the main characters in Harper Lee’s To Kill a Mockingbird, is a man of principles and consistent in his views and deeds throughout the novel, despite the town’s criticism and intolerance. Throughout the novel, he attempts to pass these values onto his children, Scout and Jem. In this lecture, we will explore the following sketches of this remarkable character:

- As a lawyer fighting social inequality and tolerance, Atticus teaches us, “[y]ou never really understand a person until you consider things from his point of view.”
- As a parent providing moral guidance to his children, Atticus reminds us to “[s]hoot all the bluejays you want, if you can hit’em, but remember it’s a sin to kill a mockingbird.”
- As a man of his word, choosing to focus on the positive rather than the negative, Atticus “is the same in his house as he is on the public streets.”

Dying to Live: Theological Perspectives on Undocumented Migration
Saturday, May 31, 3:00 – 4:00 pm, DeBartolo Hall, Room 126 (1144 on map)

Immigration is a complex issue that is changing the face of cultures worldwide. In the United States, it is often controversial, with many social, economic, political, and even religious implications. What often gets lost in the debate are the profound human issues at stake. This lecture is a reflection of the human struggle of undocumented immigrants from Mexico, their struggle for more dignified lives, and the search to find God in the midst of some of the most godless moments of the human journey.

In this session, Tom Guinan Associate Vice President with Notre Dame International, will discuss summer and short-term programs focused on classroom instruction, research, internships and service-learning. These programs often arise from collaborative relationships with peer institutions overseas and, as a result, the University is able to bring students from these partner institutions to the home campus to spend varying lengths of time working side-by-side with Notre Dame students and faculty.

PRESENTER: Thomas J. Guinan ’92, ’93 M.A., Associate Vice President, Internationalization

Kenan, Jr. Professor of Sociology and Director of the Center for the Study of Religion and Society, will discuss the findings in his latest book, Young Catholic America, which explores this crucial stage in the life of Catholics.
