Notre Dame and the Vatican: A Look Inside the Holy See

10:00 am
Washington Hall

A decade ago, upon his first visit to the Vatican, Fr. John Jenkins, C.S.C., said, “We need to work together so the Church can be enriched by Notre Dame’s work, and that Notre Dame can be enriched by its connection to the universal Church.” Take a look inside this unique, longstanding relationship between the Church and University, including a one-of-a-kind agreement with the Vatican Library, invitations to Pontifical Commissions, and much more. A panel of experts will examine the ties between Notre Dame and the Vatican, providing an insider’s view into the Holy See.

PANELISTS: John Cavadini, McGrath-Cavadini Director of the McGrath Institute for Church Life and Professor of Theology; Fr. Joe Corpora C.S.C., ’76, ’83 M.Div., Missionary of Mercy and ACE Director of Catholic School Advantage Campaign; Kathleen Cummings ’95 M.A., ’99 Ph.D., Associate Professor of American Studies and William W. and Anna Jean Cushwa Director of the Cushwa Center for the Study of American Catholicism; Chuck Lamphier ’03, ’05 M.Ed., ’10 M.N.A., Director of Church Affairs; Msgr. Tom Powers ’87, Vicar General of the Diocese of Bridgeport and former official of the Congregation for Bishops, Vatican City.

SATURDAY, JUNE 3

175 Years of ND Heritage and History

From a swath of land where Father Sorin foresaw a great university to the vibrant campus that it is today, come learn about Notre Dame’s great leaders and iconic campus from those that know it best.

The South Bend Symphony Orchestra (SBSO) is the oldest cultural arts organization in the region and its only professional orchestra. Founded in 1932, the SBSO seeks to broaden the personal experiences of a diverse audience with a mission to engage the community in the exploration of orchestral music in all its forms.

Christian-Muslim Relations in History: Three Things Everyone Should Know

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 2:30-3:30 PM
DEBARTOLO CLASSROOM HALL, ROOM 136

Christianity and Islam grow out of the same Jewish monotheism, but this presentation will focus on three crucial but even less widely known matters: 1) that they are also joined at the hip in other ways too, with the same philosophical tradition and theological language; 2) that, while there has often been violent conflict, there has also been continuous, amiable interaction and cultural borrowing between Christians and Muslims; 3) that much of the modern tension between the Christian and Muslim worlds is the result of non-religious factors.

PRESENTERS: South Bend Mayor Pete Buttigieg; Rich Carlton, President of Data Realty; Regina Emberton, President and CEO of Michiana Partnership; Bryan Ritchie, University of Notre Dame Vice President and Associate Provost for Innovation; Tim Sexton ’90, University of Notre Dame Associate Vice President for Public Affairs

The list is designed to get non-experts to think about the implications of everything from neuroenhancement to lethal cyber weapons. Come hear some of the potential new technologies for next year’s list and discuss how Notre Dame can lead the way in the discussion of the ethics of future tech.

PRESENTER: Jessica Baron ’13 M.A., Ph.D., Outreach Coordinator, Reilly Center for Science, Technology, and Values; Director of Media and Engagement, History of Science Society; Concurrent Assistant Professor of History
Fighting to Cure Food and Drug Allergies

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 2:30-3:30 PM
DEBARTOLO CLASSROOM HALL, ROOM 138
Food and drug allergies are increasing health concerns in developed nations. Depending on the severity of the allergic reaction, the results can vary from a simple itch to anaphylactic shock, which results in 1,500 deaths each year in the U.S. Despite all the clinical research, current diagnostic methods are still very primitive. More importantly, there are no drugs in the clinic that prevent the allergic reaction from taking place. Prof. Bilgicer’s research group has developed solutions to both pressing problems, and this talk will summarize their findings and next steps.

PRESENTER: Basar Bilgicer, Associate Professor, Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering

The Story of the Universe and the Origins of Life

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 2:30-3:30 PM
JORDAN HALL OF SCIENCE, DIGITAL VISUALIZATION THEATER
Professor Beers tells the story of how the universe made the elements that make up your body, the earth, the sun, the Milky Way galaxy, and everything in them. From the caldrons of the massive first stars emerged the fundamental elements required for life as we know it—carbon, nitrogen, and oxygen—within the first few hundred million years after the Big Bang. Shortly thereafter, heavier elements that provide the “spice” of life were created in supernovae explosions and merging neutron stars. Come hear the exciting tale, details of which are being explored by researchers here at Notre Dame.

PRESENTER: Timothy C. Beers, Chair of Astrophysics

This presentation will also cover specific Notre Dame admissions information. Families will also be able to register their student to receive communications from Notre Dame.

Driverless Cars Driving Big Business Decisions

SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1:30-2:30 PM
DEBARTOLO CLASSROOM HALL, ROOM 131
Driverless cars are in our future whether we want them to be or not. The benefits could be great, including an order of magnitude in reduced traffic deaths and accidents. But changes to our lives and businesses will be felt, too. Automotive businesses will become less relevant and jobs will disappear. Come learn how the decisions we make now to implement these new technologies will impact our society for generations to come.

PRESENTER: Timothy Carone, Associate Teaching Professor, Mendoza College of Business

High-Speed Trains: Transforming Transportation and Development in China
SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1:30-2:30 PM
DEBARTOLO CLASSROOM HALL, ROOM 136
China has become a global leader in railroad development. Some 12,000 miles of high-speed rail span the nation, connecting faraway regions and reshaping landscapes and urban space. This development has occurred quickly; compared to the United States and other countries, China had a late start in developing railroad infrastructure, building a comprehensive network only after the founding of the People's Republic in 1949. This talk will cover evolution of the Chinese rail system, exploring its role in advancing both China's domestic development goals and its global economic and political interests.
PRESENTER: Elisabeth Köll, William Payden Associate Professor, Department of History

SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1:30-2:30 PM
DEBARTOLO CLASSROOM HALL, ROOM 140
Psychological resilience is the ability to recover readily from stress and adversity, including both major life events and chronic difficulties. Resilience is not a rare ability; in reality, it is found in the average individual and it can be learned and developed by virtually anyone. Join Professor of Psychology Cindy Bergeman to learn about an "ordinary magic" in human resiliency, plus research-backed attributes, habits, and practices resilient people possess.
PRESENTER: Cindy Bergeman, Professor of Psychology
